

Successful without Vessels

SACO Shipping celebrates it's 25 years anniversary with 220 Guests.

„Painting the town red“ has never been Andrea Briks and Harald Pahl's style, both of them being the establishing shareholders of the NVOCC Saco Shipping in Hamburg, „A carrier without vessels“ as Andrea Briks puts it.

Wednesday March 27th, shortly before the Easter Holidays, Andrea Briks and Harald Pahl celebrated the 25th anniversary of the non vessel operating common carrier (NVOCC) together with 220 invited guests.

"Actually we wanted to operate with a maximum of 10 employees" recalls Harald Pahl the initial target back in 1988 while today's setup including subsidiary companies and corresponding shareholdings comprises a total core workforce of around 280 employees with further offices and entities in Bremen, Duisburg, Antwerp and Rotterdam.

The initially humble number of export services has meanwhile developed into an extensive service portfolio, covering some 180 direct export and some 85 direct Import services with mainly weekly departures.

In addition to foresaid own services, Saco is one of the founding members of the World Wide Alliance (WWA) a global network of neutral carriers (NVOCC's) with an overall service portfolio in excess of 1950 direct services.

"In spite of a lot work the first years were the best!"

Andrea Briks, Saco Shipping

Andrea Briks and Harald Pahl have often pondered about the source of their persistent success and concluded that it is largely owed to a great team of employees and to customers who appreciate a personal and reliable service.

Still on board is Hans-Jörg Brunsen alias "Hansi", Saco's first apprentice 23 years ago who established the Import department and managed it ever since.
