

MERRY CHRISTMAS

Every year

there are Christmas songs to hear

In all gaps you can see crowds people running busy through the town

On Christmas markets stopping by to enjoy one or one more of hot spiced wine

The city shines in all its glory candles flicker and you can listen to Santa stories

Certain hours set apart

for joy and happiness –

you can feel: this is the time of the big heart

Time to thank for everything and all good stuff that happened to all of us.

We wish you a merry Christmas

Love and contemplation

just a wonderful time to relax.

Finally a special THANK YOU for the trust that you placed in us!

We would love to work again with all of you in the way we did this year – also in 2014

that would make our biggest wish for Christmas may come true.

Merry Christmas and a prosperous new year!

How did I get to work for SACO?

During the summer of 1988 I was hired by a Company where I neither felt comfortable nor didn't had fun working.

At that time, Harald had just become self-employed with SACO, and as we knew each other, we phoned occasionally. Harald was pretty much stressed and was in dire need for staff, and I was fed up with my job anyway.

So I started to work for him on December 1st, 1988.

What motivates me in my daily duties in the SACO team?

I find motivation in my work as such, which I still consider interesting and full of variety and which pleases me a lot. I furthermore work in a fantastic team that understands itself intuitive, which is absolutely reliable and complements each other perfectly.

What have I experienced in my time with SACO:

I have seen quite a lot of new and likable workmates coming but just a very few leaving again. I have grown along from being a "four person household" into the Company that we represent today.

There have been some personal ups and downs, from which I emerged with SACO's support and counseling.

Not to mention all the parties, events and celebrations, various relocations and much, much more that is better left unspoken ☺

What spontaneously comes to mind when I think of SACO

Familiar, generous, innovative. One for all – all for one !

What I wish for the future

That SACO remains as healthy and successful as it is right now, that the following generation remains as human and personal and that I may continue my job happily and content until I retire.
